

WOMEN IN POLITICS:
TODAY'S CHALLENGES AND TOMORROW'S OPPORTUNITIES

FEATURING

ELLEN GOODMAN

FRIDAY, MARCH 23, 1990

7:30 P.M.

THE C. HOMER BAST CENTER FOR PHYSICAL EDUCATION & RECREATION
ROANOKE COLLEGE

PRESENTED BY

THE HENRY H. FOWLER PUBLIC AFFAIRS LECTURE SERIES

ELLEN GOODMAN

Ellen Goodman was graduated from Radcliffe College, cum laude, in 1963. She spent 1973-1974 at Harvard as a Nieman Fellow. She wrote a book on social change, Turning Points, published by Doubleday in March, 1979. Later in the same year, Simon and Schuster published a collection of her columns, Close to Home. A second collection, At Large, was published (Summit Books) in 1981. Goodman's second book, Making Sense, was recently published by the Atlantic Monthly Press.

Ms. Goodman was named New England Women's Press Association Woman of the Year in 1968, and Columnist of the Year, 1974. She also received the Catherine O'Brien Award, 1971; Commission on the Status of Women Media Award, 1973; Nieman Fellowship, 1973-74; UPI New England Newspaper Award for columns, 1976; Mass Media Award, American Association of University Women, 1977; and the American Society of Newspaper Editors Distinguished Writing Award, 1980.

Goodman has been with the Boston Globe since 1967. Her column first appeared in the Globe's Living section and later on the op-ed pages. Her news judgment has been confirmed and her column now appears in 400 newspapers. Time Magazine wrote that "Goodman's knowing explorations of change and its debilitating side effects ... made her the sudden sensation of America's editorial pages." In 1980, Ellen Goodman received the Pulitzer Prize for distinguished commentary.

WOMEN IN POLITICS:
TODAY'S CHALLENGES AND TOMORROW'S OPPORTUNITIES

PROGRAM AGENDA

7:30 PM	Welcome and Introduction to the Program	Dr. John G. Selby Director Henry H. Fowler Public Affairs Lecture Series
7:35 PM	Welcome to S.E.W.S.A.	Dr. Susan P. Millinger Professor History and Political Science Department
7:40 PM	Introduction of Speaker	Dr. David M. Gring President Roanoke College
7:45 PM	Public Affairs Women in Politics: Today's Challenges and Tomorrow's Opportunities	Ellen Goodman
8:45 PM	Question & Answer Session	Faculty Panel Dr. Charlene R. Flanagan Ms. Katherine A. Hoffman Dr. Harry L. Wilson
9:05 PM	Program Adjournment	Dr. David M. Gring

*****

QUESTIONNAIRE FORM

If you wish to ask a question of Ms. Goodman, please print your question below and place in the question box or pass to one of the ushers before or after the program. Thank you.

---

---

---

---

---

HENRY H. FOWLER PUBLIC AFFAIRS LECTURE SERIES

The Henry H. Fowler Public Affairs Lecture Series was endowed to honor Henry H. Fowler, Class of 1929, one of Roanoke College's most distinguished graduates. Fowler, a Limited Partner with Goldman Sachs International Corporation, was a Secretary of the Treasury in President Lyndon B. Johnson's administration. A former Chairman of the Roanoke College Board of Trustees, Mr. Fowler has served as a board member since 1954.

ROANOKE COLLEGE

ROANOKE COLLEGE WISHES TO RECOGNIZE OUR SPECIAL CONFERENCE GUESTS ON CAMPUS FOR THE ELLEN GOODMAN PUBLIC ADDRESS:

THE SOUTHEASTERN WOMEN'S STUDIES ASSOCIATION

VIRGINIA IDENTIFICATION PROGRAM FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF WOMEN IN HIGHER EDUCATION ADMINISTRATION
WESTERN REGION